ACCOMAC COURT HOUSE, VA.

Entered at the Post Office at Accomac C. H. Va., as Second-class Matter.

Saturday, March 7, 1908.

The candidacy of Secretary Taft was indorsed by the Republican Convention of Ohio on Wednesday and the colored brother was not forgotten in making up the platform adopted by them. They made a bid for his vote for their favorite by putting a plank in it, urging a reduc tion of the representation in Congres and in the Electoral College of the States in which white and colored citizens are disfranchised. This may have been only buncombe and intended as ar offset to the "Brownsville incident," but it seems to have had the indorsement of Mr. Taft in his letter approv ing the platform. Late speeches, made by him upon franchise conditions in the South, indicated that he held different views, but not being in the class of candidates that would rather be right than president he is, doubtless, ready to accept all the planks in the platform of every convention that will pledge its support to him as a candidate for the

A bill, which has passed the House looking to the better observance of the Sabbath, is on the Senate calendar and not likely to become a law at the present session. The present law provides that, "if a person be found laboring or the Sabbath day at any trade or calling or employing his apprentices or servants in labor or other business, except i household or other work of necessity of charity, he shall forfeit $2 for each offense. The bill, which has passed the House this session, proposes to strike out the words, forfeit "$2 for each offense" and in the place of them to in sert the words, "be deemed to be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $5.' Under the present law, the fine is se insignificant, that it is often violated with impunity, especially by railroads and other corporations. Under the bil now pending in the Senate, offender can be put under bond which will be forfeited on a repetition of the offence The members of the Senate should have sufficient regard for the moral senti ment of the people of the State, to see that the bill is passed. As the Times Dispatch in urging its passage says: "The Sunday law in Virginia is not a religious observance. It is not, as some seem to think, an enactment of the Fourth Commandment. It has no religious significance whatsoever. It is designed to make Sunday a legalized day of rest, and to prevent such conduct on the part of citizens as will interfere with the spirit of the holiday, or with religious services. But the law is fully justified, because Sunday obser of the people, and if we are going to have any law at all, let us have one that will serve its purpose not one that vance is good for the health and morals

One of the most pitiful tragedies in the history of the country occurred Wednesday morning in the public school of North Collinwood, a suberb of Cleveland, Ohio. The school contained be tween 310 and 325 pupils and 165 of the number were killed by fire and smoke, from any fertilizers. I shall use it or beneath the grinding heels of their panic-stricken playmates. The tragedy it to all farmers using fertilizers. was due to the overcrowded school, doors opening inward, and an inadequate fire escape. The door from which they had been accustomed to make their exit opening inward, in the frenzy of the panic was closed by the children, 200 or more, piled against it, so that it could not be opened, and with the flames so Bishop W. W. Duncan, of the M. E. Church, South, died at his home at Spartanburg, S. C., Monday. He was born at Randolph-Macon College, in Virginia, on December 27, 1839. He succeeded his brother as president of Randolph-Macon, and it was from that position he was called to become a bishop.

The Featherstone bill, making rail-roads liable for all fires along their rights of way resulting from sparks from the engines, and giving the roads an insurable right in the property so liable, has passed the Senate and will become a law when it has received the approval and signature of the governor.

SPICE TALKS.

Some people are satisfied with a Ground Pepper that tastes peppery and makes the tongue smart. They don't ask if it is pure ground Pepper. They don't realize that an ounce of adulteration in Pepper means an ounce of something that isn't Pepper but which costs you just the same. They forget that if they use an adulterated product they risk their health just that much. This is the worst feature about adulterated foods. We sell Ground Pepper which is absolutely Pure. We grind it ourselves and know it is pure. Would you feel a sense of security in using a spice that you also have confidence in?

Our Ground Pepper costs no more than any other PURE Ground Pepper. PURE Ground Pepper.
